Problem ("How Might We?") Statement:

How might we change the choice architecture of people in convenience stores to make healthier choices in food selection that are also more ecofriendly?

Rationale: If we can get people to make healthier choices in their food selection, then they will be healthier and also contribute less to climate change